Types of image processing

- Two main types of image processing operations:

  - Spatial domain operations (in image space)

  - Frequency domain operations (mainly in Fourier space)

- Two main types of spatial domain operations:

  - Point operations (intensity transformations on individual pixels)

  - Neighbourhood operations (spatial filtering on groups of pixels)